HOTEL WENTWORTH WAS BROKEN INTO

James Sullivan Took a Typewriter, and Was Arrested While Trying to Pawn Machine.

James Sullivan, aged 24, claiming Boston as his home, was arrested in a Market street pawn shop, on Tuesday evening by Officer West. Sullivan had a practically new Underwood typewriter, which he was trying to dispose of. At first Sullivan refused to say where he got the machine but at the police station he finally admitted that he had secured it at the hotel Wentworth at New Castle.

He told Deputy Chief Hurley that he had broken into the hotel during the day, gaining an entrance through the laundry. He claimed that the typewriter was the only thing he took.

Sullivan was formerly a soldier at Fort Constitution and knew about the hotel being closed. He made the trip to New Castle to see some old friends and on his way back stopped at the hotel. He was in the police station the night before for a lodging.

Watchman Campbell of the hotel Wentworth was notified of the break and he made an inspection and later telephoned the police that there were several things missing in addition to the typewriter. He said that he had reached Manager Harry W. Priest in Boston, and Mr. Priest, who was about to start south for the winter, said that he would come here

Theatrical Topics.

Grand Opera at Boston

The fourth week of grand opera will add two more operas to the repertoire of Director Russell's organization at the Boston Opera House. "La Traviata" and "Faust" will be given for the first time this season. The former will have its first presentation tonight, with Mme. Lydia Lipkowska in the role of Violetta Valery. It was in this role that Mme. Lipkowska elected to make her debut at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, and, despite the hostility that New York critics betray in recognizing new singers, won a most pronounced success. Since that time she has again sung with the Metropolitan forces and at the New Theatre and has compelled recognition as an artist of superior ability. In the cast of "La Traviata" will be Mmes. Rogers and Léveroni, and Mm. Bourillon, Boulogne, Blaccone, Pulcini, Dunstan, Perini and Strosoco. Arnaldo Conti will conduct. "Traviata" will be repeated at the Saturday matinee with Mme. Lipkowska.

Gounod's "Faust" will be given Friday night with Paul Bourillon as Faust, Glusto Nivette as Margherita, Mmes. Boulogne as Valentine, Jane Noria as Marguerite, Felina Freeman as Siebel, and Mildred Rogers as Marthe. The orchestra will be under the direction of Wallace Goodrich. As may be imagined, the opportunities afforded by "Faust" for scenic impressiveness will be taken advantage of to the limit and a great pictorial production may be looked for. Frequent rehearsals also ensure a splendid performance of the opera.

The week opened Monday night with a repeated performance of "Aida" with Mme. Boninsegna as the royal slave, a role in which she has won great appreciation from opera patrons. This performance was also notable from the fact that Constantino sang the role of Radames, in which he particularly excels. Amansso was in the very capable hands of M. Baklanoff. The scenic and ballet embellishments were superb.

There was no performance Tuesday night and as already stated "La Traviata" will be the Wednesday night bill. Thursday night there will be a performance of "Rigoletto," with Mme. Lipkowska as Gilda, Constantino as the Duke and Baklanoff as Rigoletto. There will be a ballet with some novel Terpsichorean features.

For the Saturday night's debutante performance there will be a double bill. Elena Kirines will make her initial appearance as Santuzza in "Cavalleria Rusticana" and Elfrida Schroeder will sing for the first time the role of Nedda in "Pagliacci." The other members of the cast will be selected from the well known singers of the company.

For the Sunday night concert a notable program has been arranged.

The Circus Man at Boston Theatre.

One of the greatest successes of the present season is Klaw and Erlanger's big spectacular production of "The Circus Man," the current attraction at Boston theatre. There are many reasons for its success. In the first place it is a dramatization of a widely read book—Holman P. Day's "Squire Phin," which has to do with the down east folk. In the next place the star is Melvyn Arbuckle, an actor who has a loyal following in New England and particularly in Boston as his successes as Jim Backler in "The County Chairman" and "Slim" Hoover in "The Round Up" (Nobody Loves a Fat Man) attest. The play offers the best and most consistent, clean, theatrical treat imaginable. Judged from any view point it is a splendid piece of play-writing. There is an abundance of comedy and there is something in the story that makes a direct and irresistible appeal to the seeker after entertainment. "The Circus Man" tells of the fortunes that befall "Fighting Hime." Look upon his return to the little Maine village where he was born, after twenty years of roughing it as the proprietor of a wagon circus in Texas. He has a lot of old scores to settle and he proceeds, in his dominant and forceful way to do it. And he succeeds admirably. Inidentally, he marries a charming young widow, sees his brother wedded to the girl of his choice and the of the village improve vastly owing to his return. The third and fourth acts particularly offer Mr. Arbuckle superb opportunity to display his talents and for more serious work than any role in which he has yet been seen though the comedy element is never lacking. The star has a strong supporting company and Klaw and Erlanger have mounted the five acts in really sumptuous fashion. There will be Wednesday and Saturday matinees during the engagement and the regular prices of the Boston Theatre will prevail for all performances.

AT DARTMOUTH

Dr. Bowler, who was in charge of the local movement to raise funds for the purpose of building a new gymnasium, made a special plea to the students of the freshman class at the last physical culture lesson asking them for their contribution for this building. The 1913 class will be the last one to have the privilege of thus subscribing and having their names on the bricks which will be placed in the trophy room.

The Dartmouth College Classical club, which includes all those taking advanced courses in Greek and Latin has been organized for the year. The following officers: President Joseph Bartlett '10; P. F. Owen, '11, vice president; J. J. McDonald, '11, secretary. The plan of this club, as outlined by Professor Husband, is to have one or more papers presented at each meeting on some topic of interest to those studying the classics. After the papers are read, there will be an informal discussion of the papers presented. It is expected that about forty members will join the club.

Harry R. Wellman, '07, former dormitory superintendent, and one of the best known graduates of Dartmouth is to publish a new Dartmouth Song Book, which is to contain the entire collection of Dartmouth songs. The new book will contain, besides all the regular Dartmouth songs, many that have not been published before.

Interest at Hanover is now being centered on the prospects of the basketball team for the coming season. While the candidates for the team have not as yet been called out, it is thought that when Captain Brady does call them out some very promising material will be on hand. The schedule, drawn up by Manager Haseerot, is in the hands of the athletic committee. It will probably include games with Holy Cross, Springfield training school, Williams, Syracuse, Wesleyan M. P. T., and a few others. Return games will be played with Williams Wesleyan M. P. T., and several others. The team will play Yale at Springfield some time during February. Harvard is not on the schedule this year owing to the cessation of basketball at that college.

NEWFIELDS

Rev. George W. Farmer of Portsmouth preached on Tuesday evening at the Methodist church, the first of a series of meetings which are to be held this week and next. Tomorrow evening Rev. William Warren of Lawrence, Mass., will be the speaker.

DOVER DOINGS

Dover, Dec. 1.—George Brown, the man who fell from a portable engine out at Howard Robert's farm at Dover Point Monday evening and who sustained a fractured skull as a result of the fall, regained consciousness on Tuesday afternoon. The man was thought at first to be Frank Hayes of Cape Neddick, Me., but on re-remembering circumstances, he told the attendants at the Westworth hospital, where he was taken after the accident, that his name was Brown. was thought that the fracture to his skull was the result of a kick by one of the horses, but he said that he fell from the team to the road. Had not Fred Roberts discovered the driverless team at the time when he did the man would undoubtedly have died as a result of the wound and exposure to the cold.

Granite State Lodge of Odd Ladies is to hold a supper, sale and dance in Wamsanet hall this afternoon and evening and extensive preparations have been made for the event.

The Episcopal club of the church is to hold an assembly in the banquet hall tomorrow evening, which promises to be an affair of much pleasure.

The regular meeting of the Women's club was held on Tuesday afternoon in Wamsanet hall, and following the regular business meeting the members were entertained by the history department. The program of the afternoon consisted of readings and vocal selections which were given by the history department members and each selection was of a high order. ### FIVE MEN STILL ADRIFT U. S. S. Marietta's Sailors Have Not Been Reported Washington, Dec. 1.—Adrift in the Caribbean sea for more than 80 hours unless their little boat has gone to the bottom or drifted to some friendly shore, the five men who were lost Friday night in the whaling of the gunboat Marietta, now at Port Limon Costa Rica, still are unreported. It is believed at the navy department that they had enough food and water in the boat to sustain life for several days. The danger most feared is the swamping of the boat. Just how the whaleboat and the rig in which five other members of the Marietta's deck crew drifted out to sea, to be rescued later, became lost will be the subject of inquiry from the department. Commander Frank K. Hill of the Marietta has not explained this point in his wireless dispatches to Washington.

BARNEY—HUTCHINSON

Canaan, Dec. 1.—One of the most notable weddings here in a long time was that of Edward Barney, private secretary to Congressman Carrier of his state and Miss Beattie Hutchinson, both of this town which took place on Tuesday evening at the Methodist church, Canaan street, the pastor, Rev. W. C. Taylor, officiating.

The attendance of relatives and friends of the bride and groom was very large, a notable delegation coming from Rochester, where the bride formerly lived.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney left shortly before midnight on a train for Washington, where the coming session of congress requires the groom's presence.

MAY KILL DEER

In Rockingham County Until the 15th of December

The open season on deer in the seven lower counties of New Hampshire begins tomorrow and will continue until Dec. 15. In Grafton and Carroll counties the season opened Nov. 1 and will close Dec. 15. In Coos county deer shooting is allowed during the entire two months of October and November, but the season closes there today. Were shooting allowed there until the middle of December, the slaughter of deer on the snow would be excessive.

An important change in the deer law was made by the last legislature. When the southern part of the state was first opened to the deer hunter the law was drawn to read that deer could be killed "with shotguns only, using buckshot not smaller than one-fourth of an inch in diameter."

There was a wide difference of opinion as regarded the limit of the word buckshot. While the law fixed a minimum size, no maximum limit was set, and some construed it to mean that any ball that could be fired in a shotgun was allowable. Cartridges loaded with a single ball as large as could be fired through a straight bore gun were got out by local dealers, and thousands were sold, despite the opinion expressed by officials in authority that they could not be classed as buckshot.

However, no prosecutions were made except where rifles were used and the first legislature to convene thereafter changed the law so as to allow "a single ball or loose buck shot." The use of a rifle in deer hunting is still prohibited and a heavy penalty is provided for violations.

LITERARY NOTES

Book by Ex-President Tucker

The Rainford Press, of Concord, N. H., announces the publication, December 20, of a volume of addresses and papers, entitled, "Public Mindedness," by Dr. William Jewett Tucker, ex-president of Dartmouth college. This volume is a discussion of citizenship, considered in many aspects, and is a valuable and most important contribution to a subject of the utmost importance at the present time.

The essays and addresses which comprise this volume number twenty-four. They were delivered by President Tucker before educational or patriotic gatherings between 1893 and 1908, and discuss with remarkable lucidity and power many of the problems and responsibilities of citizenship. Dr. Tucker takes the ground that there has heretofore been no sufficient recognition, either in idea or in fact, of the quality of public mindedness as inherent in citizenship. This volume is a discussion of its deficiency from various standpoints.

GOVERNMENT O EYS ITS CASE

Jury Completed In the Customs Fraud Prosecution

BENDERNAGEL'S FUNCTION

Prosecuting Officer Says It Was to Provide the Sine of War—Describes in Detail How Government Was Defrauded—Operations Were Under Charge of Dock Superintendent Who Kept Eyes Open

New York, Dec. 1.—When the trial of James F. BERNAGEL, former manager of the American Sugar Refining company's Williamsburg plant, and the five other former employees of the company accused with him of sugar underweighing frauds, was resumed before Judge Martin in the United States circuit court, all impending motions had been disposed of and but one seat in the jury box remained unfilled.

The jury was completed shortly after court convened and the government opened its case.

Mr. Dennison told the jury the now famous story of the trick scales, a hole and a wire in each by means of which the weighers are alleged to have manipulated the scale beam to make the sugar weigh less. "The special office of BERNAGEL was to provide the sine of war," said Mr. Dennison, who added that the government expected to prove that Oliver Spitzer, BERNAGEL's right-hand man, the dock superintendent, and BERNAGEL himself "saw to it that any government weighers who were astute enough to discover anything were removed."

Taking of evidence was begun with the examination of Thomas B. McLaughlin, chief entry clerk of the custom house, who produced the entry papers of the steamship Egan, which in 1907 brought the cargo of sugar about which the testimony of the government is expected to centre in its attempt to hasten specific frauds upon the defendants.

The jury consists of the following individuals: Gaston Plafin, manager of an automobile company; William C. Marsh, manufacturer; Mortimer H. Cort; Louis Miller, an umbrella manufacturer; Benjamin MacPhillips, a real estate dealer; Adolph A. Hegeman, a real estate dealer; Arthur H. Phillips, a dealer in school supplies; Charles F. Deane, a real estate dealer; Edgar P. Reynolds, hardware dealer; Samuel Marks, manufacturer of trimmings; Harry Rebins, a clerk, and A. Linbury Palmer, manufacturer.

Mr. Dennison, in the opening address for the government, made the comprehensive charge of sugar frauds from the very inauguration of the duty upon that article.

"We expect to prove beyond a doubt," said he, "that since the very day on which a duty upon sugar went into effect the Havemeyer and Elder refiners, which later came into the American Sugar Refining company, have been defrauding the United States government out of a part of the duty payable under the law."

Mr. Dennison described in detail the process of weighing the sugar; how lying was done on platform scales owned by the company, and how sugar, after having been thus weighed, was taken away a short distance to scales where city weighers, representing merchants reweighed it.

These operations were all under the charge of Oliver Spitzer, the dock superintendent, who had with him also the sweepers who gathered up large quantities of sugar that had run out of the mucks as they were moved about. Spitzer also had under him the checkers for the sugar company, who checked the weights as taken by the government weighers, and by the city weighers.

Mr. Dennison said that the average weight of sugar per truck load was reduced about thirteen pounds. The government prosecutor explained that the result of this process was to have two sets of books, one of which contained the correct weights as weighed by the man who represented the importing merchants, and the other the declared weights from the scales where the government weighers were employed. The difference between these two sets of weights he declared showed absolutely the amount of fraud upon the government and when the government began its investigation before, it found the leaves from the two sets of books pasted back to back in the records of the sugar company.

FOURTH ARREST IS MADE

Alleged Accessory in Burning of Furriers' Premises at Boston
Boston, Dec. 1.—Michael Rudnick, son of Morris Rudnick of the firm of Samuel L. Gordon & Co., furriers, at 121 Summer street, was arrested yesterday as an accessory before the fact in connection with the fire which wrecked the store on June 20 last.

This is the fourth arrest in the case, Morris Rudnick, Samuel L. Gordon and Bernard Davies, all members of the firm, having been previously arrested. The three men are charged with arson. There was $35,000 insurance on the stock.

It is alleged against the accused that they removed from the store furs valued at $35,000 and then fired the store by means of a slow burning candle in a pile of inflammable material.

Police inspectors yesterday found furs worth $1000 at the fur store of Morris Gordon. Many of the furs correspond with the items on the inventory.

CHINAMEN'S LIVES SAVED

Death Sentence Is Commuted to Imprisonment For Life

Boston, Dec. 1.—Governor Draper has agreed to the action of the executive council in voting to commute to life imprisonment the death sentences of Warry Charles and Joe Guey, who were sentenced to death because of the Chinatown riot. The reason given for this action is "the conflicting testimony of the Chinese witnesses."

The pardon committee met and later reported to the full council. The action of the full council was unanimous. Councilors Barry, not being present. Councilors Goetting of Springfield and Cole of Beverly were absent, but favored commutation.

In the past fifteen years the only commutations of death sentences have been those of Edwin R. Snow in January, 1901, by Governor Crane and of Angus Snel in November, 1905, by Governor Douglas.

Smith was taken to Forest Hill by James Stamberger, chief of the East Cleveland police force, and told his story directly to Rockefeller.

It is said that the hasty decision to depart from Forest Hill, Rockefeller's engagement to speak at the banquet of the Men's club of the Euclid Avenue Baptist church was cancelled, and the armed guards were doubled at Forest Hill.

ENGLAND FACES GREAT CRISIS

Nothing Like It Known During Last Century

LORDS REJECT BUDGET

But Seventy-Five Votes In Its Favor, While Three Hundred and Fifty Are Recorded Against It—Political End of House of Lords Forecasted If Liberals Are Successful In Appeal to the Country

London, Dec. 1.—In the sedate, detached manner characteristic of the proceedings in the gilded chamber, and in direct disregard of the advice of some of its ablest and oldest members, such as Rosebery, Morley, Lord James of Hereford, Lord Cromer, Lord Balfour of Burleigh, the Earl of Lytton, Lord Courtney and the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, the house of lords created a situation unprecedented in English history, at least in 300 years, by refusing formal assent to the budget bill and referring it to the country itself for judgment, thereby, in theory, making it illegal to collect taxes and carry on the king's government.

The vote was 350 against to 75 in favor of the amendment.

After six days' debate, notable for the high standard of the oratory, as well as for the able and convincing arguments arrayed on both sides for and against the budget, and placing in every possible light all the aspects of the great constitutional questions involved, the house of lords cleared for division at 11:30 o'clock last night.

The scene was impressive, but in no sense exciting, except that the house was packed to its utmost capacity and a great array of strange faces was seen on the benches owing to the presence of numbers of peers who only appear in the house in most exceptional cases.

None would have supposed that the event proceeding was destined not only to prove memorable in the annals of British history, but possibly also involving far-reaching changes in the British constitution.

The public galleries were crowded with peacocks, members of the house of commons, ambassadors and others, but in the house itself complete calm prevailed.

The vote was on Lord Lansdowne's amendment that the house was not justified in giving its consent to the bill until it had been submitted to the judgment of the country.

When the vote was announced, just before midnight, a few mixed cheers were heard. The Earl of Crewe immediately moved an adjournment and the house rose.

David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, author of the budget, and the man of the hour in England, has precipitated the greatest political crisis England has seen in a century. He is bitterly denounced as a Socialist on the one side, and praised as a great statesman on the other.

The house of lords in rejecting the budget has violated the long-standing unwritten law of England that the upper branch shall not interfere with finance bills originating in the house of commons.

The Liberal party in appealing to the country will make the house of lords the main issue, and if successful it means the political end of that body.

It is undisputed that if the Liberal party is successful home rule for Ireland is virtually assured.

England faces the greatest political crisis in a century and no election during that time is fraught with such momentous consequences as the one to come as a result of the action of the house of lords.

The opponents of the budget will endeavor to win on the basis of a tariff reform issue, the entering wedge for a stiff protective tariff to replace the present free trade policy.

There were no evictions yesterday but ten will take place today and nine Thursday, according to a statement issued by one of the mill officials.

The relief committee of the evicted tenants, who now number over 100, got busy, following a meeting of the strikers. Forty Polish women and girls were sent to Springfield with large boxes, such as are used by the Salvation Army in Boston during Thanksgiving and Christmas times, to take up collections for the relief of the sufferers at Ludlow.

The collectors reaped a large harvest and many of the baskets and boxes, which were used to hold the donations of money, were completely filled soon after the women started in collecting.

APPLE JUICE FLOOD BLOCKS TRAFFIC

Fire Destroys a $40,000 Cider Mill at Ayer, Mass

Ayer, Mass., Dec. 1.—Half a million gallons of cider and vinegar, released by a fire in the Haynes-Roper cider mill, inundated the railroad tracks here and tied up traffic for an hour. A gang of workmen was hastily summoned to dig gutters, so that the apple juice flowed away without causing any washouts, but for a long time the tracks were under cider.

Several firemen had to run to escape drowning from the floods of cider that were hurled out. Gas generated by the flames added to the troubles of the firemen.

The fire will throw between 100 and 150 men out of work. The money loss is estimated at about $40,000. Sparks from a passing locomotive are believed to have been responsible for the blaze.

Besides the four-story building and machinery, 500,000 gallons of cider and vinegar and 50,000 barrels of apples were destroyed.

NAVY REFORM IS APPROVED

Myer's Plan Receives Congressmen's Indorsement

ROBERTS GIVES HIS VIEWS

Points Out That Great Utility of a Navy Yard Is That It Shall Be Available in Times of War When Repairs Can Be Made Expeditiously—Certain Amount of Construction Should Be Going on All the Time

Washington, Dec. 1.—Secretary Myer's plan of naval reorganization, while it will be held by some authorities to be extremely radical, is receiving commendation already by members of congress as a definite and courageous step to improve conditions in the navy.

It is very radical compared with the chaotic conditions of half a dozen years ago, before any steps toward more businesslike administration had been taken on a large scale; but with the reforms recently instituted, culminating in the bold stroke of Truman H. Newberry in the last days of the Roosevelt administration, it is to be considered rather as a development than a revolution.

Representative Roberts of Massachusetts has been for ten years a member of the committee on naval affairs and is well acquainted with the naval situation. He has studied the Myer plan carefully and has talked with the secretary at times regarding the general situation.

"Whether the Myer plan succeeds or fails," said Roberts, "Secretary Myer should be given great credit for making an effort to improve conditions. A secretary of the navy can do what the committee on naval affairs cannot do, and Mr. Myer, in studying the present system until he understands it thoroughly, and in framing a scheme of his own to make the service more efficient, has done good work whether it remains or not."

"Secretary Newberry aimed to place the yards on a basis of absolute business efficiency by simplifying administration and centralizing effort. He consolidated the shops in the yards and placed a naval constructor in charge of industrial work. The plan brought good results in some directions and created great friction in others in placing staff officers over line officers and sometimes superiors."

"Mr. Myer aims to treat the navy yards as repair rather than manufacturing plants. He thus recognizes the principle that there is no real analogy between a plant which turns out identical products repeatedly and an emergency plant which must be equipped to care for a great variety of work, as varied as accidents themselves."

"The great utility of a navy yard is that it shall be available in times of war, when repairs can be made expeditiously. I do not quite agree with the idea of Mr. Myer that ships should be built chiefly outside with only enough work in the yards to provide competition and protect the government against overcharges. Ships should be built neither all outside nor all inside navy yards."

"A certain amount of construction should be going on all the time. By this plan the skilled men are kept together, and are available for every emergency, where, with spasmodic work, they are laid off, and often it is very hard to get highly skilled men when they are most needed. It is true that government-built ships cost a little more than private built, but not much."

"Mr. Myer's plan of a division of the single manufacturing department into two parts, those having to do with hull and machinery, is that followed in all successful private plants which are operated for profit. Newberry recognized as well as Myer that naval work can never be reduced to the economical basis of a private manufacturing plant, for military reasons."

"The naval committee always has wanted to modify the bureau system and Myer has done the practical thing in suggesting that the bureau of equipment be abolished. This at least is a definite step. All secretaries of the navy have powers, and I think the committee has been waiting for someone that will use them. I am inclined also to think well of the establishment of a staff of aides for the reasons stated by Myer."

38 PERCENT PROFIT

Secretary Wilson Says It Is Gathered In by Retail Dealers in Beef

Washington, Dec. 1.—Secretary Wilson of the agricultural department, in his annual report, pictures the results of the farmers for the year ending June 30 last. "Most prosperous of all years is the place to which 1909 is entitled in agriculture" is the way the secretary puts it.

The value of farm products was $3,100,000,000, a gain of $89,000,000 over the preceding year.

Of great popular interest are the results of a unique investigation conducted by the department, which shows that in fifty cities the total retail cost charged to consumers for beef above the wholesale cost paid by the retailers averaged 38 percent. The lower the grade of beef the greater was the percentage of gross profit to the retailer.

2300 SWITCHMEN

OBEY STRIKE CALL

All Grain Carrying Roads in Northwest Are Affected

St. Paul, Dec. 1.—After fifteen days of negotiating between the Switchmen's Union of North America and the Railway Managers' commission, representing thirteen roads of the northwest, a strike involving 2300 switchmen became effective last night.

The men demand 6 cents more an hour and double pay for Sunday, and overtime in excess of ten hours. The men were employed by the various railroads running west and north of St. Paul and Lake Superior to the Pacific coast.

As the roads entering St. Paul, Duluth and Superior are largely grain carriers from the west, the prospect of interruption to this traffic has caused some to fear delayed deliveries of grain and an increase in the price of flour.

WILSON SITS UP

Doctors Hope That Middy Will Eventually Recover From Paralysis

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 1.—Midshipman Earl D. Wilson, quarterback of the naval academy football team, who was injured more than eight weeks ago in the game with Villa Nova and who has ever since been paralyzed from the head down, has so far improved that yesterday he was able to sit up in bed for a short time.

The surgeons are encouraged to hope that the spinal cord, which has been compressed by a fracture of the vertebra, will finally return to its normal condition, the pressure upon it having been removed, and that complete recovery from the paralysis will follow.

ANTI-TRUST LAWS

It is nearly a score of years since, under the administration of Benjamin Harrison, the Sherman antitrust law went into the federal statutes. It has often been disparaged and declared to be wholly useless as a means of opposing the organization of combinations in restraint of trade. The Cleveland administration made but small use of it. Since then it has been used for better purpose, but always in the face of the cry that it is ineffective and should either be repealed with a view to clearing the way for the adoption of a stronger law or radically amended to make it more responsive to public needs and demands. All the time new suits were being instituted under it and victories won by the government in actions brought against great combinations in restraint of trade and commerce, have encouraged popular belief in the efficacy of the Sherman law when wisely and broadly interpreted from the viewpoint of public policy.

Further than this, it is well to remember that the first antitrust measure ever before Congress was introduced by William McKinley, Jr., then a Congressman from Ohio and afterwards the first president under whose administration an antitrust prosecution was begun in a United States court.

The recent decision ordering the dissolution of the Standard Oil company is not merely a popular triumph, it is the culmination of a continuous series of labors by Republican statesmen.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

Miss Lillie Sutton was convicted at Ocean Springs, Mississippi, of breaking and entering the house of Fred Abley and stealing therefrom half a pound of butter and five eggs. For this crime she was sentenced to a term of seven years in the state penitentiary, and the sentence has been affirmed by the state supreme court. The value of the goods may have been thirty cents but the seriousness of the offense lay of course in the burglaries act. The sentence has been affirmed by the state supreme court. Secretary Ballinger's Report
There may be men who, reading the report of Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior, will rub their eyes in bewilderment. Is this the Ballinger who reprehensible: halls from a saw mill state; who has been accused by unscrupulous magnates of endangering "the great work of Theodore Roosevelt" in conserving the national resources; who is branded "reactionary" and a tool of the Power Trust; the Ballinger with whom Pinchot waged war and for assailing whom the gallant Givens officially fought, bled and died? Nothing in the report suggests such a secretary as has been described. Mr. Ballinger praises the energetic work of his predecessors. He points out that the public-land acts are twenty-five years old and more and urges more advanced coal-land and mining laws for Alaska and the home territories. He wants legislation to recover public lands improperly taken. In anticipation of new laws to prevent the harmful monopoly of power sites on public lands he has temporarily withdrawn from settlement 603,355 acres, "covering all locations known to possess power possibilities on unappropriated land outside of national forests." And he advises the government never to sell such power locations, but to lease them under careful provisions which he outlines.

If this action and recommendation be reactionary, what could a radical do?—New York World.

Putting on Airs

A Brockton man recently wrote to the State department at Washington. He addressed the letter to "The Secretary of State, Washington, D. C." When he received his reply enclosed was a slip, which read: "It is requested that all communications upon official matters, forwarded to the department of State should be addressed to 'The Honorable, the Secretary of State.' Brockton men, being versed in 'etiquette' as in all other matters, should not need such an admonition. The rest of us however might be disposed to inquire 'Why?' The constitution of the United States gives to the Secretary of State's superior no other title than that of The President. That would seem to be title enough, and as the servant is not usually supposed to be above his master, no reason is apparent why a cabinet officer should be any more overloaded with titles.—New Bedford Standard.

CHANDLER APPROVES

Meyer Plan for Reorganization of the United States Navy

Washington, Dec. 1.—Secretary Wilson was much occupied Tuesday sounding out the details for the reorganization which goes into effect tomorrow at navy yards and in the department.

Numerous assignments of officers are yet to be made, but the department was not ready to state what further changes there would be. Admiral Cane, the chief of steam engineering, has been at work several days selecting seagoing officers for positions at the yards.

Among the naval officers, excepting only the staff, the reorganization is received generally with warm commendation. There has not been sufficient time yet for members of the naval committees of senate and house to frame their opinions of it. The naval committees are often jealous of the exercise of the departmental authority for important changes in naval administration.

Indications are that some of these congressmen, probably Senator Hale among them, regard the reorganization unfavorably in that it gives naval officers increasing authority.

Former Assistant Secretary of the Navy Newberry, who began reforms in the department and made some radical changes, is in Washington. He declined to express an opinion as to the program of his successor.

A TIMELY TOPIC

BY ORISON SWETT MARDEN. In Success Magazine

Monotony is a Shriveler of Ability.

NO matter how healthy or capable a person may be the brain cells and faculties which are constantly used, like the bow which is always tightly strung, lose their grip and firmness, and become jaded, dull, and flabby.

The brain that is continually exercised in one's occupation or profession, with little or no change, is not capable of the vigorous, spontaneous action of the brain that gets frequent recreation and change. The man who keeps everlastingly at it, who has little fun or play in his life, usually gets into a rut early in his career and shrivels and dries up for lack of variety of mental food and stimulus. Nothing is more beneficial to the mental or physical worker than frequent change—a fresh viewpoint. Everywhere we see men who have gone seed early, become ratty and uninteresting, because they worked too much and played too little. Monotony is a great shriveler of ability.

Ambitious workers in vigorous health are apt to apply themselves too closely to their work, and not to take sufficient rest and recreation. But the greatest achievers are not those who are forever grinding away at their work; who, whenever you meet them, never fail to impress it upon you that their time is precious—they must be going, must be on the move.

GYPSY MOTHS

Increasing in New Hampshire Say Officials

Washington, Dec. 1.—Secretary Wilson says in his annual report that the gypsy moth has been held within bounds during the past year except in the state of New Hampshire.

There the moth has been discovered in a number of new localities recently, but it is believed that the pest existed there for a long time prior to its discovery. Describing the work of the bureau of entomology in fighting the moths, Secretary Wilson says:

"Cooperation with the state officials of Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut has been continued. The force of the bureau has continued cutting underbrush and removing dead wood and undesirable trees to a distance of 100 feet from the roadway on either side of the roads leading through the worst infested woodlands. More than 300 miles of roadway have been cleared in this manner, making it impossible for gypsy moth caterpillars to drop from trees along the roads upon passing vehicles.

"These strips have also been sprayed with arsenicals, and the trees have been banded with sticky paper, so as to prevent the ascending of caterpillars crawling from underbrush. The improvement in the infested territory in Massachusetts, Maine, Connecticut and Rhode Island has been marked, except in woodlands proper, and much experimental work has been carried on which indicates that eventually it may be possible to apply remedial measures in such localities.

"An important step in preventing the further spread of the gypsy moth has been taken in cooperation with the different railroad corporations operating within the infested territory. Under a regulation put into effect by the railroads on July 1, 1909, shippers of lumber, cordwood, fence posts, railroad ties and other forest products are required to present a certificate of inspection before the railroads accept the shipments."

Mr. Wilson tells of the parasite work that has been carried on to assist in destroying the moths. Extensive experiments were conducted by cooperation between the department and the state authorities.

Dr. Howard, chief of the entomology bureau, visited several European countries in connection with the work and a special agent was sent to Russia to collect parasites. More parasite material was received during the year than ever before, the best results being obtained from France and Japan.

Twelve species of parasites that were turned loose in New England have been found thriving in the fields and forests. Twice as many varieties of parasites are now in the field as compared with a year ago. One species has been found scattered over an area of 500 square miles.

Secretary Wilson makes a strong plea for federal inspection and quarantine of imported nursery stock, citing in particular the case of a large consignment of nursery stock from France to this country, which was sold and shipped in over 800 lots in 35 states.

It was discovered later that these seedlings had been infested with browntail moths. By cooperation with the railroads, the department agents traced every shipment and found browntail moths' nests in fifteen states.

NEW HAMPSHIRE STATE HOUSE

Progress on the Building Enlargement Is Said to be Good

Concord, Dec. 1.—In the last week there have been several conferences between the governor the contractors of the new state house and the sub-contractors. Governor Quincy is anxious to have the building completed in the scheduled time, Dec. 1, 1910 and the contractors are just as anxious. The result of these conferences is the assurance on the part of the granite manufacturers that all of the granite will be on the site by Jan. 1, and this if consummated will mean that the new building will be roofed in by Jan. 15 and the work of completing the interior can go merrily on in the severe weather.

With the exception of a few layers on the west side and the arches over the windows on the south side the second story of the building has been laid up, and already it is apparent what a handsome structure the completed building will be. The ornamented work at the entrances in the rear is especially attractive and the building has a very substantial look. The fire proofing on the inside has been keeping pace with the outside work, and in the old building partitions have been taken out and work is in readiness for the big steel girders that are to furnish support for the dome and other upper work. These girders have been ordered and will be the largest ever put into a building in this state.

Over across the street the work on the new historical building is progressing slowly. Just now the ornamental carvers are attracting attention from the sidewalk committee. The building, it must be remembered is the most costly building in the United States of its size, and this means that the dollars are going in to the construction inside, where they can never be seen, but the building will be standing on Park street when every other building in the Capital city of today is gone and forgotten barring accidents of an unusual nature, of course. It is too early to see the great beauty of this building, and few visitors to the Capital city seem to understand that fact. The construction has advanced to the second story almost all of the way around the building, but the ornamental work begins with the second story, and only the handsome tent granite indicates now the possibilities of what is to come. The end of inside of this building will be constructed of handsome marble, and there will not be a piece of wood as big as a toothpick in the construction of the entire building.

While the state house is undergoing its alterations and superb additions the state officials are quartered in the White mansion on State street just across Capital street from the state house. It is needless to say that none of the officials has room enough and work is being done under the great difficulties. The vaults in the old state house still have to be used for safe keeping. Secretary of State Pearson has a desk in the executive offices, another working desk in the pantry of the house, and a file of books in the kitchen sink. The servants' rooms is in the main office of the secretary of state. State Treasurer Solon A. Carter has the largest office in the building, but he has no much furniture, files and paraphernalia, all of which is necessary in the office, that one needs a guide to work his way up to the counter.

The labor bureau upstairs has room enough, and some more, while Dr. Watson, secretary of the state board of health, and his bureau of vital statistics is badly cramped. The adjutant general is getting along nicely, so far as quarters are concerned and all told the state officials by looking across the street and glimpsing the imagination a little can afford to put up with cramped offices for a while in anticipation of what is to come.

WOODRUFF FOR HUGHES

Says New York Governor Can Be Re-elected

New York Dec. 1.—Timothy L. Woodruff, chairman of the Republican state committee, expresses the opinion that if Gov. Hughes would take the nomination again he would be nominated and elected. Mr. Woodruff said:

"Both the party leaders and the party rank and file will be heartily unanimous, indeed, for him if he can be persuaded to run. There is no doubt about it."

B. &amp; M. FREIGHT TRAFFIC MANAGER

Amos S. Crane of Boston Takes the Place Today

Boston, Mass., Dec. 1.—The announcement was made last night by Second Vice President W. F. Berry of the Boston and Maine railroad with the approval of President Lucius Tuttle, that Amos S. Crane, for a number of years export traffic manager of the Boston and Maine system in place of the late M. T. Donovan.

Beginning today, according to the order issued last night, the positions of assistant freight traffic manager and export freight traffic manager are abolished and the duties of both positions will be assumed by Mr. Crane.

The place is one of great importance in traffic circles and in view of the recent change in the management of the Boston and Maine system, it was rumored that the position would go to a New Haven man.

Mr. Crane was born in the town of Washington, Berkshire county. He began his railroad career as contracting agent for the Erie railroad at Chicago in 1877 and three years later came to Boston as New England agent for that company's fast freight lines. In 1883 he became connected with the freight service of the Boston, Hoosac Tunnel and Western railroad, now a part of the Boston and Maine system. Afterward he returned to Chicago as general freight agent for the Chicago and Atlantic lines. He returned east in 1890 and became general freight agent for the Fitchburg railroad and eight years later was made general traffic manager of that road.

When the Fitchburg road was leased by the Boston and Maine, Mr. Crane was made export traffic manager.

SAILORS WIN LAST GAME OF THE SEASON

The football team of the battleship New Hampshire finished their season at the Plains on Tuesday afternoon when they defeated the Portsmouth team by a score of 19 to 5. The game was postponed from Thanksgiving Day, and the local team did not have as strong a lineup as was intended for that date.

The scoring was all done in the second half Tommy Pligim starting it, when one of the New Hampshire backs fumbled a punt of Leavitt's, and he picked it up on the run and ran fifty yards for a touchdown.

The sailors made their touchdowns on straight football, Baker each time carrying the ball across on hard line plunging, which the local team was unable to withstand. Baker was soon after with Tibbets ruled out of the game for mixing it up.

Leavitt played a star game for the locals and he got good support from Trueblood and Bauna. Baker was easily the star of the sailors' team.

and his line plunging was a feature. There were about 400 sailors ashore for the game and they gave their team great support.

The lineup:

U. S. S. N. H.	Portsmouth.
Burney, Jr.	re, Barrett
Loverschick, It.	rt, Badger
Kearney, Jr.	rg, Tibbets

DR. COOK AT WELLS

Wells Depot, Me., Dec. 1.—The people of this village are firmly of the opinion that Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the claimant for polar honors as the first to reach the northern axis of the earth is at the Pine Tree sanitarium here.

They insist that the explorer arrived at noon Monday and will remain in seclusion until he thoroughly recovers from the nervous exhaustion from which he is suffering.

The man was seen on the street at Kennebunk Sunday by Mr. Dodge, the newsdealer, who identified him as Cook.

On his arrival here Monday he telephoned to some one in Boston and then went to the sanitarium. After an early supper the patient chatted for a few minutes with Mrs. Pitt, wife of the proprietor, Dr. Thomas S. Pitt of Cambridge Mass. Dr. Cook then retired.

While no one at the sanitarium would admit that the explorer was a patient there, it is regarded as significant that it was equally impossible to find anyone in authority who would deny that he was seeking rest and health at the retreat.

News comes from New York city that Charles Stewart Smith, one of the last of the old line merchant princes who laid foundations of the fortunes before the Civil war, died at his house on Tuesday of pleurisy. He was 77 years of age. Mr. Smith was born in Exeter, and began business as a boy of fifteen in a wholesale drygoods house. He retired from active business in 1887, but remained a director of the Fifth Avenue bank of New York of which he was one of the founders, the Fourth National bank, the Merchants' National bank and the Greenwich Savings bank and a member of the executive committee of the chamber of commerce.

JEFFRIES AND JOHNSON

The Bids for the Big Prize Fight May Be Opened at Sea

New York, Dec. 1.—There may be large and unlooked for doings over in Hoboken when Champion Jack Johnson and former Champion Jim Jeffries, their managers and the promoters who are trying to secure the putting on of the biggest fight in the history of the ring, get together today to auction off the privilege. The meeting is scheduled to take place at Meyers Hotel, an obscure little hostelry in the wilds of the Jersey shore, and there is a tip out that the entire bunch will be pinched.

When Police Commissioner Baker notified the fighters that an attempt to open the bids at Madison Square Garden, as originally planned, would result in wholesale arrests, it was decided to cross the river.

Just how they expect to get away with the Hoboken proposition is not clear, as it is said the New Jersey laws regarding prize fights and the signing of agreements for fights, is almost identical with those of New York, and the tip is out that the authorities there will follow the same course adopted by Commissioner Baker, with one slight exception.

This exception is that they will not notify the fight bunch, but will swoop down on them when they get together, and order them from the state the alternative being a trip to the local bawls for the entire outfit.

The fighters and promoters have information of the proposed action of the Jersey authorities and early this morning were busy framing up some sort of scheme whereby the bids could be opened and the fight arrangements completed in some other place in the event of their being barred from Hoboken.

One of the propositions advanced, and which is said to have met with the approval of Sam Berger and George Little, the managers of the fighters, is to charter a sea-going tug and carry the entire party out beyond the three-mile limit, where they will not be interfered with.

THREE GRANDSONS KILLED

All at the Same Age and in the Same Manner

Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 1.—A strange fatality, so strange, indeed, that it would seem almost beyond belief, has apparently followed three grandsons of Mrs. William Mellen of No. 129 Snyder street, Brooklyn. The three grandsons have met death at the age of twelve years in exactly the same way—they have each been shot and accidentally killed by playmates.

The boys were killed on dates far apart in different sections of the country. One was killed by a toy cannon, another by a shotgun and the third by a revolver only last Saturday in Brooklyn.

The boy killed last Saturday was Joseph Rhode, who lived with his grandmother in Snyder street.

Our Idea in Advertising

Is not so much to sell a Suit or Overcoat as it is to get a customer. There is a big difference between selling a man a suit and getting him for a regular customer.

But our object is to sell a man such a good suit the first time that he comes back for another one next season, and keeps coming back until he gets the habit of coming—a habit that he finds too good to break.

There are many things about our Suits and Overcoats that we could tell you, but long years of experience tells us, that a satisfied customer is one of the best advertisements a Tailor can have.

Let us make you a Suit or Overcoat this season.

ZELAYA WANTS TO QUIT

Washington, Dec. 1.—Pres. Zelaya has made overtures to the revolutionists, intimating his willingness to retire from the presidency of Nicaragua, provided the congress be allowed to select a provisional president in his stead.

This news comes from the U. S. consulate at Bluefields, and was sent late Sunday night.

The dispatch says that a recognized representative of Zelaya has telegraphed an adroitly worded dispatch to the revolutionists, making an overture to the effect that it is rumored that Zelaya, recognizing the weakness of his position, may retire, the first convening congress (all of the delegates to which are named and controlled by him), with a view to the selection of a provisional president.

Gen. Estrada has sent the following reply:

"The government of Gen. Estrada, completely assured of an ultimate triumph and much stronger than Zelaya, who with his accomplices, owes reparation to the country, and Estrada being the unanimous choice for president of the liberal party, aided by the conservatives, will not accept any terms other than the recognition of the provisional government established."

SEALED ORDERS

For Mare Island Navy Yard to be Opened on Wednesday

San Francisco, Dec. 1.—It was learned on Monday night, on what appears thoroughly good authority, that Rear Admiral Phelps, commandant of the Mare Island navy yard, received a telegram from Washington Monday, which is in the nature of sealed orders, since it is not to be opened until Dec. 1, and it is believed to relate to the Nicaraguan situation.

The arrival of the message and a short one preceding it which set the time for its personal is given peculiar importance, because the gunboat Princeton, which sailed from Bremerton navy yard Sunday en route to Toronto, will arrive at Mare Island early on Dec. 1, to load stores and ammunition.

The unopened message it is stated is the longest received at the Mare Island navy yard since the Spanish-American war. Navy yard officials believed it to be orders relative to preparations for naval activity, presumably bearing on Nicaraguan situation.

According to orders received by the Princeton, the gunboat is to proceed to Corinto with all possible speed and join the Vicksburg, now at that port.

SWITCHMEN STRIKE

Twenty-Five Hundred out on Rail Roads of the Northwest

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 1.—Two thousand five hundred railroad switchmen went on strike Tuesday night between St. Paul and the Pacific coast on the Great Northern Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific and allied lines. The situation is summarized as follows:

Men out, 2,500.
Scene of strike, west from the Great Lakes to the Pacific coast.
Men refused to arbitrate.

Cause of strike, refusal of increase of 50 cents a day in wages with double pay Sundays, holidays and overtime and refusal to eliminate physical examination or to withdraw the age limit on men entering the service.

The companies say the men average more than $100 a month. The men say traffic will be tied up as it never was before.

Passenger service was interrupted between Minneapolis and St. Paul by strike.

Strike has already added to the price of wheat in Chicago.

A DRAWING ATTRACTION AT MUSIC HALL

The Whiteside-Strauss company presented "For a Human Life" at Music Hall on Tuesday evening, and it was well received by the good sized audience present and it was apparently just to the liking of the audience who were generous with applause.

The specialties are good and especially the Burdette Bros., the comedy acrobats who are exceptionally clever, and are alone worth the admission price. They have some clever work and get away with it all in a most pleasing manner.

This afternoon the offering will be "My Old Kentucky Home" and in the evening "In the Name of the Czar."

The moving picture show starts at 7.30.

The letter chain of prayers which caused so much trouble some time ago has been revived this week when some people received the letter with an order to write ten just like it and sent it to people, under threats of misfortune. The letter is evidently the work of some freak and should be stopped, as it seriously interferes with the peace of mind of some people.

A Scientific Remedy THAT RELIEVES EVERY FORM OF SKIN TROUBLE

Doctors are often sorely perplexed in determining what to call many of the common diseases of the skin. One authority says there are at least twenty different forms of eczema alone, and it is a general practice to call it eczema whenever there is a scaly crust upon the skin, accompanied by itching. Just what causes this terribly annoying and stubborn disease would be difficult to say. The truth is that skin diseases generally have been very little understood. For years they were thought to be blood disorders. A short time ago there was discovered a new compound called Cadum, which, when applied externally, effected the most astonishing results in all forms of eczema and other skin troubles of a minor kind. This proved that eczema is not the result of disordered blood, but is a skin disease beyond question. Before the discovery of Cadum other external remedies without number were used, but proved of value only where the attack was mild and recent. It is less than one year since Cadum was discovered, and in that time cures almost beyond belief have been brought about in not only deep seated cases of eczema, but in all forms of skin troubles as well. If you could have seen some of the horribly disfigured and blotched faces and bodies that Cadum has cleared up and restored to a perfectly healthy condition, you would think the day of miracles had returned, but there is no miracle about Cadum whatever. It is a scientific remedy discovered after long study of skin diseases, and it is most reassuring to be told that it contains no poisonous substances. It is for children and adults, and its remarkable virtues are felt after the first application. The itching stops at once and the healing process is rapid and unmistakable. Cadum is sold by druggists at 10c and 25c a box. It is for pimples, rash, blotches, blackheads, chafings, rough, scaly skin, ringworm, herpes, etc., and other troubles of that kind.

As Mary laid out the blue crepe de chine that had been one of her trousseau gowns she felt bitterly that things were not very evenly divided in this world. Her husband came in, and she felt annoyed at times at his very goodness. It was positively irritating to have any one always so sweet tempered. It was almost a weakness. If he were more of a fighter he would probably get on faster in his business, and she would not have to take all the care of the babies with only a "general girl" to help in the house.

When she spoke sharply to Will he would look vaguely distressed, or, patting her shoulder, would remark gently, "Poor Mary, you're tired out."

VICTORY FOR LINE OFFICERS

Naval Opinion Regarding Secretary Meyer's Proposed Changes

Washington, Dec. 1.—By inaugurating his comprehensive plan of reform in the navy department today, Secretary Meyer will forestall probably all attempts at congressional reformation of the department for the present. At this time he will ask only that the bureau of equipment be abolished, which can be accomplished by congress alone.

A year hence, if his reforms are found to be as satisfactory in practice as they appear on paper, he will ask congress to make permanent the changes by enacting them into law. Legislation is particularly desired in order to allow the secretary to name any officers he may desire as his four aides, one for operation of the fleet, a second for material, a third for personnel and a fourth for inspection. At present he is limited to the higher ranking officers.

Little else than the effect of the reforms was discussed at the navy department on Tuesday. They are regarded as a striking victory for the line officers. This is notably the case in the navy yards, where the power conferred by former Secretary Newberry on naval constructors is given to the commandants by Secretary Meyer.

The secretary intends to appoint younger men to the positions of commandants and captains in the navy yards. Their tenure of office will be three years at least and instead of making it an "easy snap" for officers who want to round out their careers the commandants in the future will be men who will later go out in command of ships.

The position of aide for operation of the fleet is generally regarded as likely to become the most important assignment in the navy. Upon this officer in time of war would fall the duties performed by the strategy board during the Spanish-American war and by Assistant Secretary Fox during the Civil war.

BOTTLERS OUT AT JONES BERRY

Giving to some dispute all of the "litters" employed at the Frank Jones Brewing company, bottling works suspended work on Tuesday and they claim that they will remain away until the matter is adjusted. Only about ten or a dozen men are affected.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS WARD 15

The democrats of ward 15 will hold a caucus Wednesday, Dec. 1, at 7.30 p. m., at the ward room, old high school building, for the purpose of nominating candidates for a councilman and registrar of voters. The ward committee will meet at 7 p. m.

Fortune and Burden.

By MARIE SYLVESTRE.

Copyrighted, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.

By this time she was ready to dress to go out to dinner Mary Bowen was so tired that she felt she would have preferred to stay at home and go to bed early. And yet she had looked forward eagerly for two days to this dinner at the Valentines' new house.

That she should feel out of sorts when the time actually had arrived added to the sense of grievance against things in general that had been growing very strong within her of late.

Mary Bowen had been married four years, and she was beginning to think of herself as a disappointed woman. Her husband was always good and kind, devoted to her and the two babies, but he had failed to surround her with the comforts she felt she deserved.

She felt annoyed at times at his very goodness. It was positively irritating to have any one always so sweet tempered. It was almost a weakness. If he were more of a fighter he would probably get on faster in his business, and she would not have to take all the care of the babies with only a "general girl" to help in the house.

When she spoke sharply to Will he would look vaguely distressed, or, patting her shoulder, would remark gently, "Poor Mary, you're tired out."

Well, she felt tonight she was tired out. She and her husband were going to dine with her oldest friend, who had married a year before. The Valentines had gone abroad for a honeymoon that had lasted a whole year. Now they had come back into a house that had been built and furnished during their absence and stood completely ready to receive them.

to his wife's frequent look of appeal with a laugh cruelly careless. "Poor Caroline!" she thought. There was no room in her mind for "poor Mary" now. She looked at her husband. He did look tired, as Caroline said. There were circles under his eyes and his cheeks looked hollow. A lump came into her throat.

He worked every day of his life faithfully and hard, without complaining, while she, because she also had to work, complained constantly of her lot. Who was she that she should expect to lay down her burdens? And how good he was to her, how he always tried to please her, to make her happy!

As she took part in the general talk she longed to cry out to him, "Forgive me, oh, forgive me!"

It was over at last. Mary and Caroline went back to the drawing room and left the men to their cigars.

"How beautiful your house is, Caroline!" said Mary.

"Yes, isn't it? But the credit goes to the architect and the furnisher and decorators. I think I shall feel more at home when I've been here longer. I've thought since I came of the way you and Will furnished your little house, picking out everything together, and how you made your own curtains. Your house looks like you. This is beautiful, but there isn't anything really of us in it."

Then Mary asked about the trip, and Caroline told her about the many places they had seen. But she broke off suddenly to say, in a low tone: "Mary, don't think it's always the way it is tonight. He does try, and I help him, and he will conquer. I'm sorry you've seen, but we all have our burdens to bear."

When at last Mary and Will got away and walked down the street together Mary said: "Let's walk home. The air feels good, and my head aches."

"Poor little woman!" said Will tenderly. "You're tired. But it's true what Caroline said. You look as sweet and pretty as a rose. I looked at you across the table tonight and then at Caroline and thought what a lucky fellow I was to get you, Mary."

He patted the hand that lay on his arm and continued: "And didn't you think the house awfully stuffy? It's very fine, of course, but it reminded me of a high priced club more than a home. But I know there are lots of things we need, dear, and we'll have them in time, so don't get discouraged."

"Oh, Will, don't, don't! You are killing me!" said Mary, clinging to his arm, while the tears overflowed and choked her.

"Why, Mary, what is it? Her husband stopped in genuine astonishment and tried to look at her.

"It is just that I want you to forgive me. I've been so hateful and horrid, but I do love you more than all the world. Say you forgive me, Will."

She was sobbing, and Will took her gently in his arms. "I have nothing to forgive, dearest."

Mary did not try to show him all she felt he had to forgive, but she pressed her lips to her husband's in mute pledge. Then, arm in arm, they walked along the silent street toward home.

A Cream Puff Cure.
A young woman teacher in a school in one of the poorer parts of the city was overcome by a sudden attack of illness one day. She dismissed the class, telling the boys she felt too ill to continue, but hoped to be quite well by the next day. The teacher rested her head on her arms and sat at her desk a few minutes waiting for strength to start on the journey homeward. She was only dully conscious of what was going on about her and did not notice a group of the ragged youngsters gathered by the door in deep consultation.

In a little while she heard some one softly say, "Teacher," and looked up. It was the raggedest boy of the lot, and he was holding out a paper bag full of something.

"What is it, Jimmie?" she asked.

"Somebody told me," replied Jimmie, "that I'm not hungry."

"Yes, you are," insisted the ragged philanthropist, winking at her gravely. "Nobody's sick except when they're hungry. We took up a collection and got these cream puffs for you. Eat 'em quick, ma'am, an' you'll feel better."

The Restaurant Bluffer.
"Of all the bluffers one meets socially and in business, and their name is legion," remarked a minor cynic, "none amuses me more than the restaurant bluffer. This brand is numerous. I met one today, and his embarrassment was ludicrous."

"This chap, you know, is a living lie. He lodges in a rather high priced house, but occupies a cheap little room up under the roof, to which he is careful not to invite any acquaintance. He's an underclerk somewhere, but talks familiarly of high finance. He pretends to be on friendly terms with influential men who wouldn't know him from Adam."

"Several evenings ago he was impressing me with the frequency with which he lunches at one or two places famous in the Wall street section. When I met him today, bonding over coffee and rolls in a place where his check was 30 cents, you should have seen his face. It was a study."

"Of course I wasn't surprised, but he was. I enjoyed the encounter, but he didn't!"—New York Globe.

THE TIMID MINER.

Two of His Checks Cashed, He Made Bold With a Third.

A mining man from Mexico came to New York to sell a mine. He had a good one and good introductions and went to one of the big hotels. Here he was presented to (the manager and cashier and vouched for.

"You can get anything you want here," said his friend. "I have fixed it with everybody."

Next day the mining man came down stairs and timidly approached the cashier's window. "Bents all how much it costs to live here to New York," he said. "I can't turn around without it costing me something. Can I get some money here?"

"You can," said the cashier. "I am instructed to cash any check you may present."

The mining man wrote out a check for $30 and handed it in. The cashier smiled as he gave him his money.

Next day he came around again. "Son," he said to the cashier. "I am clean put out about the way I have to spend money here. Will you cash another check for me?"

He wrote a check for $30 and was given the cash. Next day he sullied up to the cashier again. He had sold his mine.

"Son," he said, "am I right in thinking you will cash any sort of a check for me?"

"Certainly," replied the cashier. "Let me have it."

"All right," said the Mexican miner, "cash that, for I'm in a hurry to get home."

And the cashier fell in a fit when he picked up the check. It was for $3,000,000.—Saturday Evening Post.

He Got the Rest.

A certain member of Lord Kitchener's staff in India who had been married a few months previously applied for sick leave, which was readily granted. A couple of days afterward Lord Kitchener happened to meet the wife of the officer. She thanked him profusely for allowing her husband to go to the hills and explained that she was now in the midst of packing up.

"But there is some mistake," said Kitchener. "When I gave Captain permission to go to the hills it was so that he might have a rest, and I am going to see that he gets it. If you go his leave will be canceled!"

Perseverance.

The tendency to persevere, to persist in spite of hindrances, discouragements and impossibilities—it is this that in all things distinguishes the strong soul from the weak.—Thomas Carlyle.

Needed Scratching.

They were having trouble in getting a jury to try a case in a county court. There had been a good deal of feeling aroused, and no one seemed particularly anxious to put himself on record for either side. One man hesitated a long time about stating the grounds on which he based his claim of exemption. Finally he said:

"Well, your honor, the truth of the matter is I have the itch!"

"Scratch him off," Mr. Clerk; scratch him off," instantly replied the judge.—Lippincott's.

Got His Man.

Some years ago in Egypt General Hunter was at dinner with some friends when one of his orderlies entered the room and said there was a messenger outside anxious to see him. General Hunter could not leave the table at that moment and told the orderly to go.

"What shall I do with him, then, sir?" asked the orderly.

"Oh, knock him down!" said Hunter impatiently as he turned to his dinner. Five minutes later the man returned bearing obvious marks of the fray. He saluted stiffly and said to the astonished general, "I had a bit of a job, sir, but I knocked him down at the finish."

Next Best.

A certain young minister in Pullman, recently ordained, is still very nervous, and sometimes his remarks do not convey exactly the meaning he intended. A few Sundays ago he rose, fumbled with the papers on his desk, blushed and then said:

"My friends, I am sorry to say that I have lost the notes for my sermon, and I therefore cannot deliver it. I will have to do the next best thing and read a few chapters from the Bible."

The 100 members of the crew of the New Hampshire will always remember their initiation into the Button Busters in Odd Fellows' hall on Tuesday evening. After the working of the degree the lodge of Button Busters were the guests of the members of the order from the New Hampshire, who provided a fine banquet under direction of Rowe and Vandy, caterers, which consisted of salads, cold meats, escalloped oysters, mashed potatoes, celery, olives, pickles, fancy crackers, frozen pudding, coffee and cigars.
